

Here is a little help how to do the online instructions. Please go to:

<http://www-sist.gsi.de/>

You are then ask to give the username (Benutzername) and the password (Kennwort); these are sistgast

	gsi1gsi

Then click on "Anmelden" for registration.

Next you find is the registration sheet, please choose now your language (Sprache) to english. If you have filled everything out (mandatory fields shown bold), click on Register.

After this you can select the instructions:

- general safety instructions (mandatory)
- radiation protection instructions (if you want to work in the radiation protection areas of the GSI, please click on "radiation protection instructions")
- general laser safety instructions (if you work with lasers)
- instructions for access to the AEBs (when you work in Enclosed Electrical Operating Areas (=AEB))

After each instruction you find a multiple-choice-test.

Have you answered all questions correctly at the first time, then congratulations! A certification for each instruction will be produced automatically. Please print out the certifications, sign it and send it to the safety and radiation protection department (fax ++49 6159 71 2109).

If you don't answer all questions correctly at the first time, then don't panic! The program asks you automatically to do a second try. Please click on "Try Again", and then you get the questions which you didn't answer correctly. You must answer all questions correctly to get the certification. Unless you do not have the certification you have not passed the instruction.

Important: When you click on logout, your registered data and the already answered questions are cancelled.
